

Telling the Time

Twelve sheets: o'clock, then half past

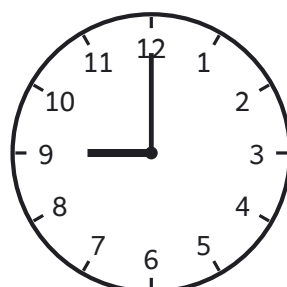

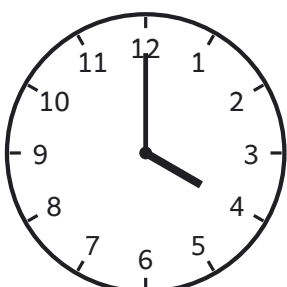

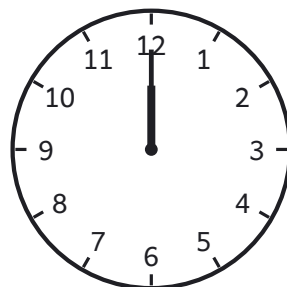

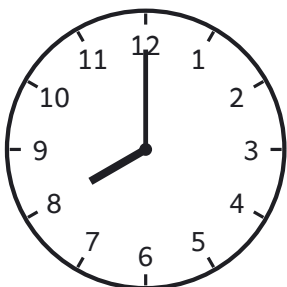

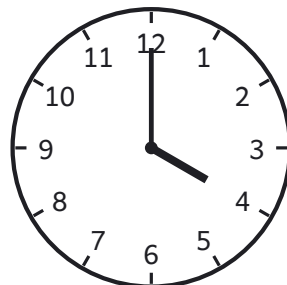

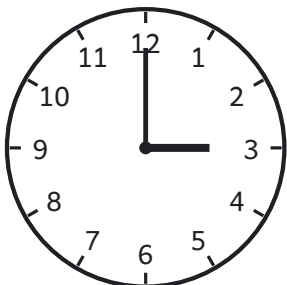

The short hand is the hour and the long hand is the minutes, and almost every mistake a child makes comes from reading them the wrong way round.

Four sheets of o'clock, four of half past, and four mixed - half asking the child to read a clock, half asking them to draw the hands themselves.

A4 - black ink only - ages 5-8

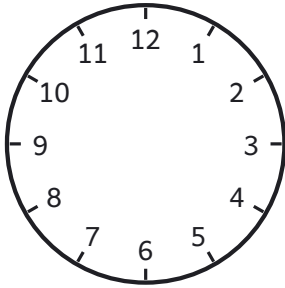

Read the clock - o'clock

Write the time under each clock.

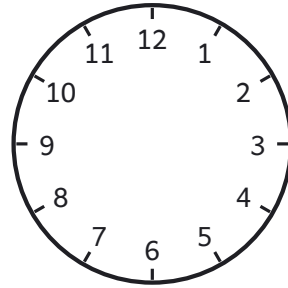

Draw the hands - o'clock

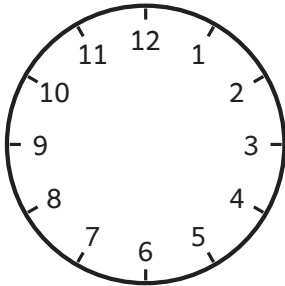

Draw the hour hand short and the minute hand long.

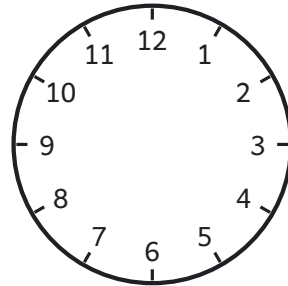

12 o'clock

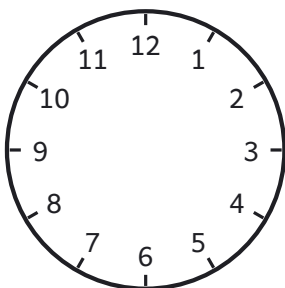

5 o'clock

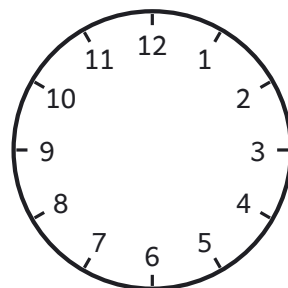

8 o'clock

2 o'clock

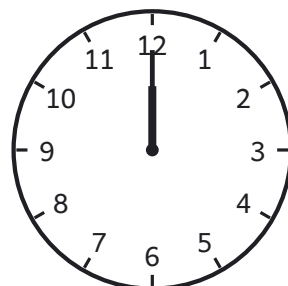

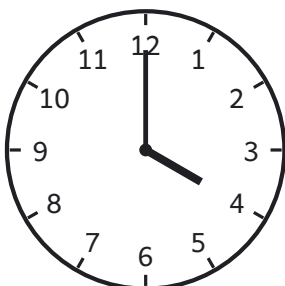

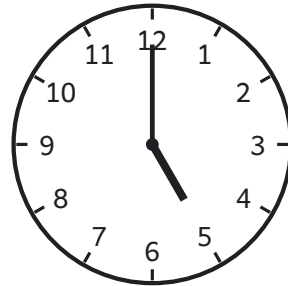

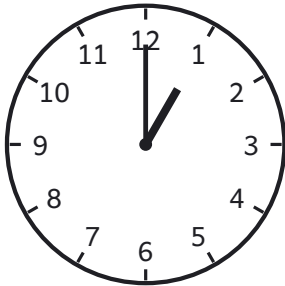

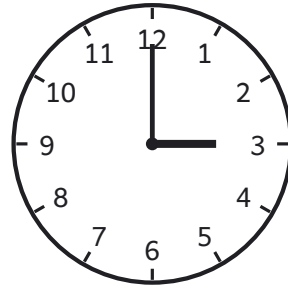

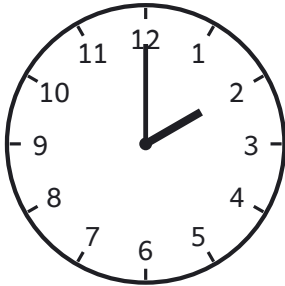

2 o'clock

9 o'clock

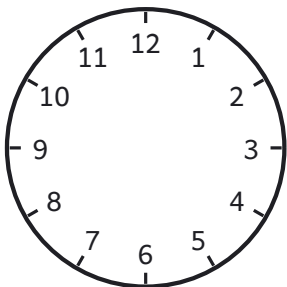

Read the clock - o'clock

Write the time under each clock.

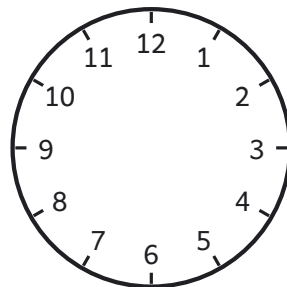

Draw the hands - o'clock

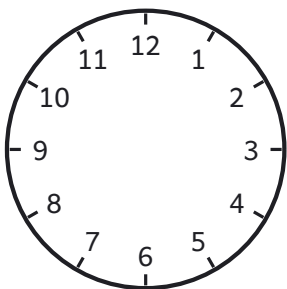

Draw the hour hand short and the minute hand long.

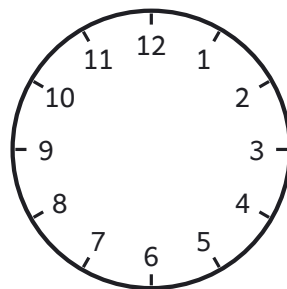

1 o'clock

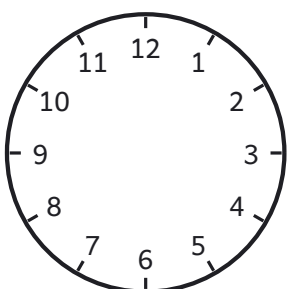

6 o'clock

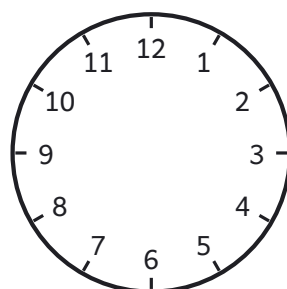

3 o'clock

8 o'clock

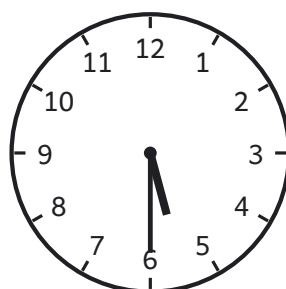

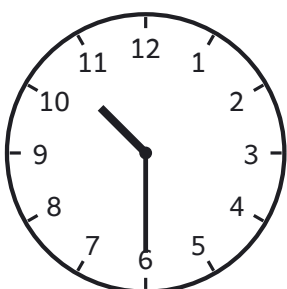

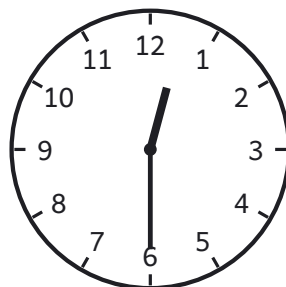

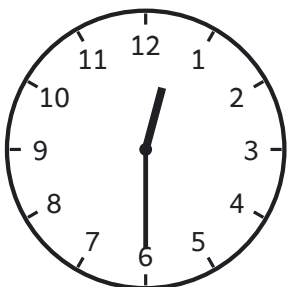

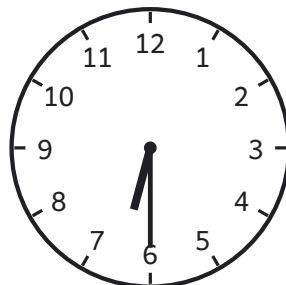

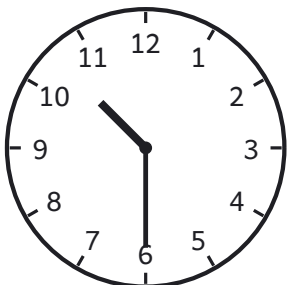

11 o'clock

4 o'clock

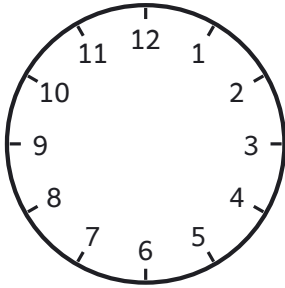

Read the clock - half past

Write the time under each clock.

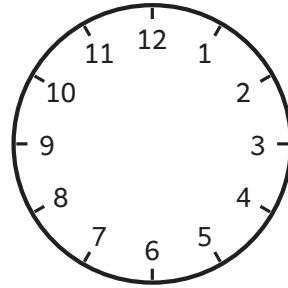

Draw the hands - half past

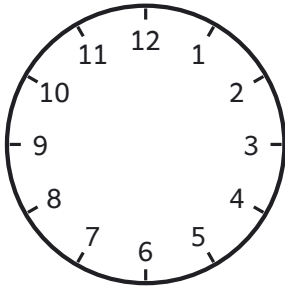

Draw the hour hand short and the minute hand long.

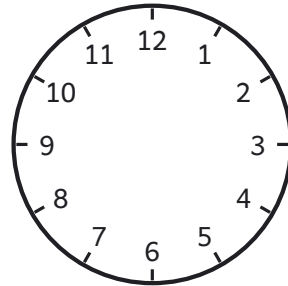

half past 5

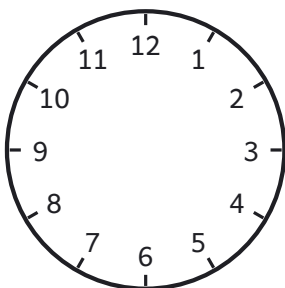

half past 1

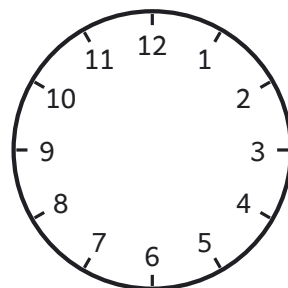

half past 5

half past 5

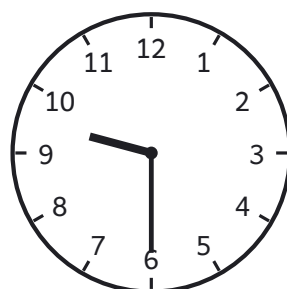

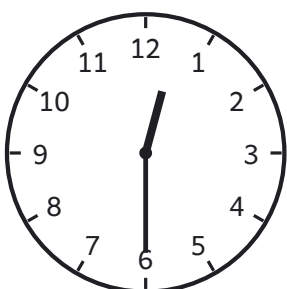

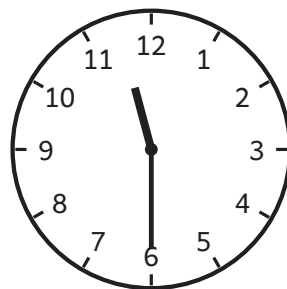

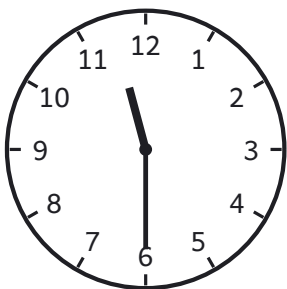

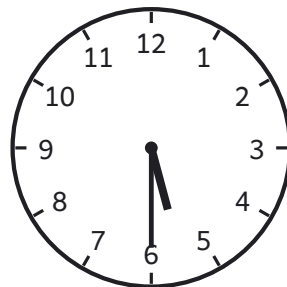

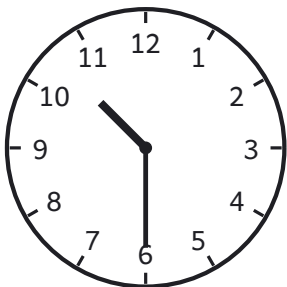

half past 11

half past 7

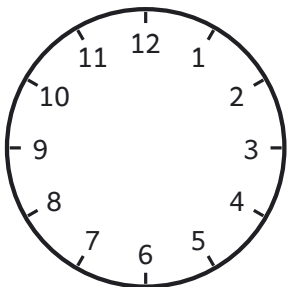

Read the clock - half past

Write the time under each clock.

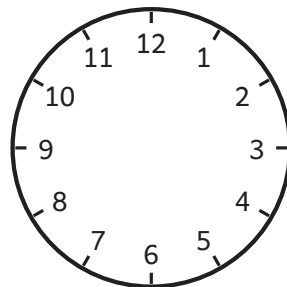

Draw the hands - half past

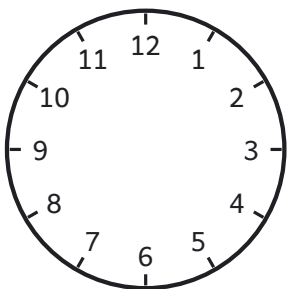

Draw the hour hand short and the minute hand long.

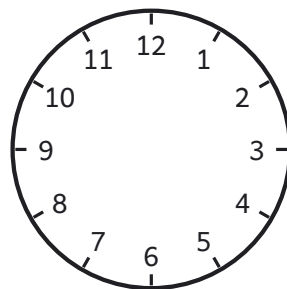

half past 1

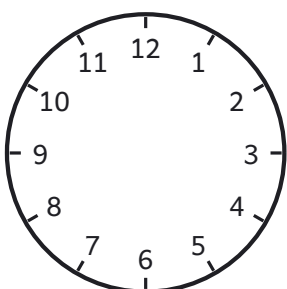

half past 10

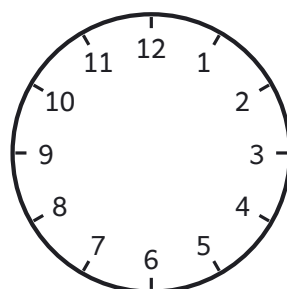

half past 11

half past 6

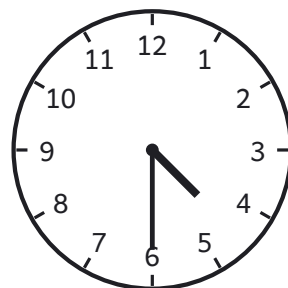

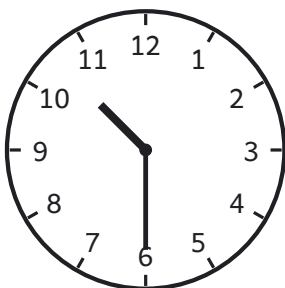

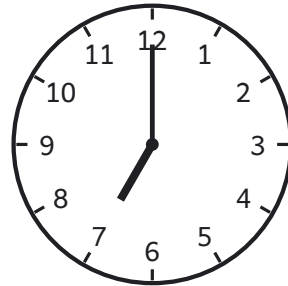

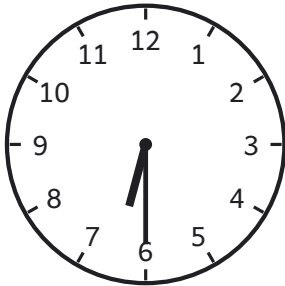

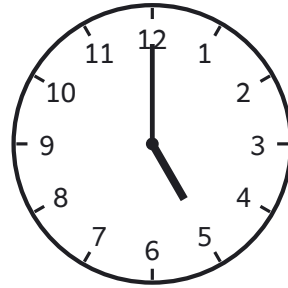

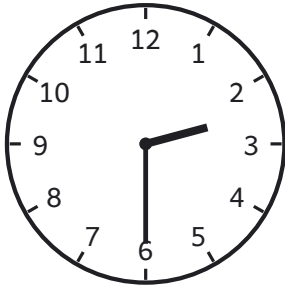

half past 9

half past 12

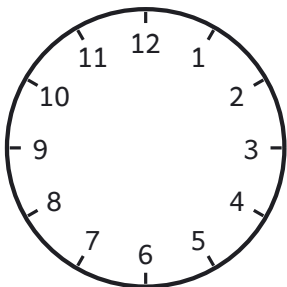

Read the clock - mixed

Write the time under each clock.

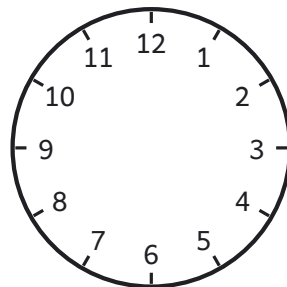

Draw the hands - mixed

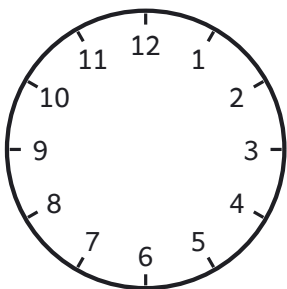

Draw the hour hand short and the minute hand long.

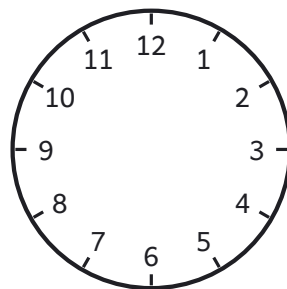

half past 9

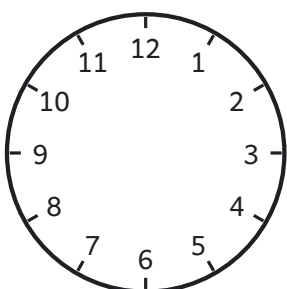

1 o'clock

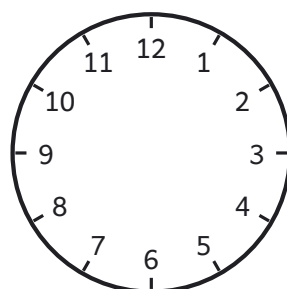

2 o'clock

half past 2

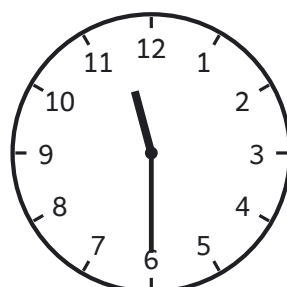

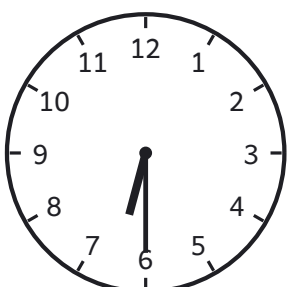

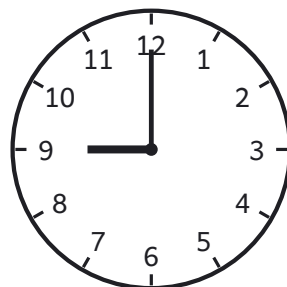

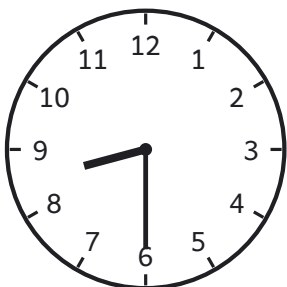

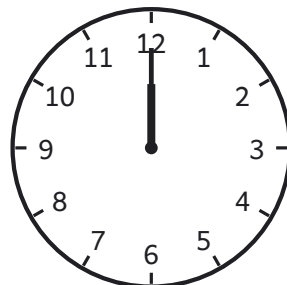

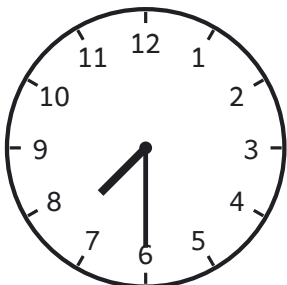

7 o'clock

half past 1

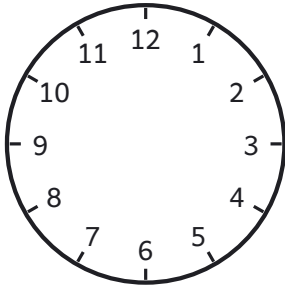

Read the clock - mixed

Write the time under each clock.

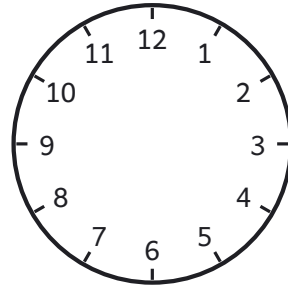

Draw the hands - mixed

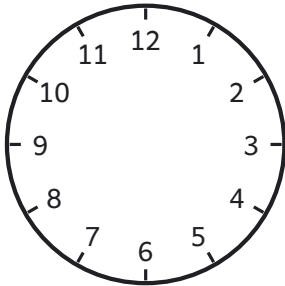

Draw the hour hand short and the minute hand long.

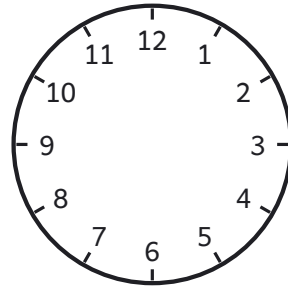

half past 10

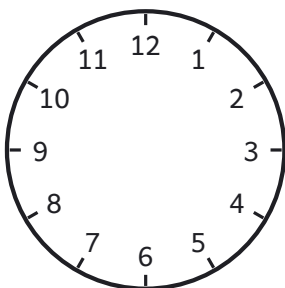

half past 7

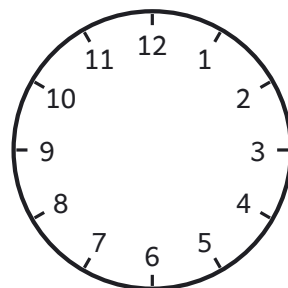

6 o'clock

7 o'clock

half past 4

half past 8